HUNDREDS VISIT TOWN SCHOOLS

Patrons' Day in Public Schools of Gettysburg Observed by Many Parents and Friends Who are Surprised at Work being Done.

Gettysburg's public schools, from the primary grades to the High School were visited on Friday by hundreds of patrons who were delighted with the exhibitions in the various rooms and with the entertainments given in a number of the schools.

Starting in Miss Scott's room and continuing through the various grades until the work of the High School was viewed, the visitor who took advantage of the special invitation to call on Patrons' Day saw the stages of "constructive work" from the most elementary efforts up to the operations of manual training and basket weaving.

Art work in the various rooms of the High Street building showed surprising skill for the tiny six, eight and ten year old tots, while the work of making various articles out of paper—cradles, lanterns, boxes, and other things was most interesting. Going on through the grades of the Meade building this same work in more advanced forms was to be seen while the display of sewing in the Eighth Grade was one of the features of the day's exhibit.

At the High School the art course is carried to its highest form in public school work and the manual training and basket weaving displays were viewed by many delighted patrons. The girls of the High School have taken to the manual training idea and claim superiority over the boys, a claim which many of the visitors seem to think is justified.

Many of the rooms had entertainments, others carried on their usual work and the visitors had a pleasant time of it watching the youngsters in their different forms of activity. The teachers had a busy time, entertaining the visitors and taking care of their restless charges at the same time but every person who went the rounds received most courteous treatment and Patrons' Day was a big success.

That it was a success was due to much hard and consistent work on the part of all the teachers and pupils. The exhibits were arranged in the rooms most attractively and pictures, programs, calendars, booklets, little articles made out of paper, and other things were conveniently placed for inspection. Those who failed to take advantage of the day missed a most delightful feature of Gettysburg public school life.

All persons who could not visit the schools Friday and who wish to see the exhibits can do so on Monday or Tuesday.

STOCK DIES FROM FORAGE POISONING

Many County Farmers Losing Valuable Stock as the Result of Must Hay and Oats. Disease being Fought by All.

Forage poisoning in many sections of the county has resulted during the past ten days in the deaths of a number of good horses and mules, farmers suffering heavy losses as a result of the ravages of the disease.

Jacob Musselman, of Fairfield, lost a horse and a mule; T. Marshall Mehning, of near town, a horse; John Staley, of Mt. Joy township, a pair of mules and a horse, Harry Jacobs, of near McCleary's school house, a horse; Mrs. Haner, of near Bonneauville, a horse; and E. G. Sterner, two horses, while many other farmers report one horse each and other valuable stock shows symptoms of the disease.

The poison is said to come from musty feed and the hay is blamed principally while oats is given as the cause at some places. The hay had a very heavy stand last summer and some farmers cut a large quantity which they were unable to work before it had gotten musty as it lay on the ground. The musty oats is said to have become poisonous in the bins.

Local veterinarians are working hard to stamp out the disease which has proved so costly not only this year but at other times recently. Last year the same disease appeared and two years ago quite a scare was created at the maneuver camp when many horses died from it.

Misses Edna and Ella Blocher on Friday evening of last week entertained at their home, eleven members of the "Zetasophic Club," of Penna. College, Gettysburg, and a number of young ladies from this place. The guests were very delightfully entertained by the Misses Blocher and the evening was hugely enjoyed by all.

William L. Sentz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sentz, of near Piney Creek, and Miss Myrtle A. Koontz, of near Taneytown, were united in marriage, Thursday evening of last week, at the Reformed Parsonage, in Taneytown, by Rev. D. J. Wolf. Both bride and groom are well known in this place, the bride having been a frequent visitor at the home of Edward Bair.

Camp 386, P. O. S. of A., of this place, has been rapidly growing in membership during the past year, and making progress in many other ways. During the past month twenty two new members were initiated, making the total membership, at this time, over 200. During the next few weeks there will be another initiation, at which time a goodly number will become members. During the past week they have raised a beautiful new flag on their building on East King street, and also presented one to the Public Schools for the School Building.

WHITELAW REID REPORTED BATTLE

Ambassador to England, who Died this Week, was an Eye-Witness of the Battle of Gettysburg as a War Correspondent.

Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, who died in London the early part of the week, was a war correspondent for the New York Tribune at the time of the Battle of Gettysburg, wrote the story of the big engagement and sent it by wire from Hanover, all the wires at this place having been cut. Mr. Reid also reported the dedication of the Soldiers' National Cemetery a few months later. At the time of the battle he was working under Horace Greeley, then editor of the "Tribune."

"It is not generally understood that war correspondents in this country are allowed to move with the battle line into the engagement when the hardest fighting is going on. The correspondent of the New York "Herald" and Mr. Reid witnessed the three days' engagement, July 1st, 2nd and 3d, 1863, at Gettysburg.

In the evening of July 3, 1863, when the defeat of Lee's army at Gettysburg was evident, Mr. Reid, representing the Cincinnati Gazette and the New York Tribune and Mr. Nicholson, of the New York Herald, rode hastily to Hanover and employed Daniel E. Trone to telegraph the news of the battle to New York. They sent a message to Lincoln at Washington and it was the first authentic account that the President received of the victory at Gettysburg. It is said that the good news relieved the President from great anxiety for he feared that the Southern forces might be successful.

After the two war correspondents had communicated with Lincoln at Washington they sent nearly 5,000 words to the New York papers which they represented. Their reports were the most accurate and the longest accounts of the battle of Gettysburg published on July 4th.

Daniel Trone also sent from Hanover Whitelaw Reid's account of the consecration services of the National cemetery in Gettysburg, held Nov. 19, 1863, because the wires at Gettysburg had been monopolized by correspondents of other newspapers.

The best account of Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg at the cemetery dedication was published in the New York Tribune because the speech was copied from Lincoln's own manuscript. All other reports of this famous speech omitted several of the most important sentences.

SICKLES' TROUBLES

State Will Proceed Against Commissioners for $28,000 Shortage.

Although General Daniel E. Sickles, of New York, was given until Friday to make an accounting to the state for funds amounting to about $28,000 paid him as chairman of the New York State Monuments Commission, no word has been received from him by Attorney-General Carmody or State Comptroller Sohmer. No vouchers for the money have been filed and Mr. Carmody says he will now look to the members of the commission to restore the amount to the state treasury. He has so informed the commissioners.

POETICAL FEATS.

Difficult Rimes Had No Terrors For Browning or Byron.

Poets may be baffled in their search for rimes, but it takes a great deal to baffle the doggerel rimester. Charles H. offered a reward for a rime to "porringer." The reward was claimed with the following marriage announcement:

The Duke of York a daughter had.
He gave the Prince of Orange tier.
So now your majesty will see
I've found a rime for porringer.

Browning's perpetrations in rime are probably unique in English poetry. Here is a couplet from "Sordello" which no minor poet would dare to print for fear of blasting his reputation:

Chirrup the contumacious grasshopper;
Rustles the lizard and the cushats chire.

In the same poem he rimes "sulk" with "mulet," "flag" with "quag," "abhors" with "valvassors." But he reached the climax surely in the couplet:

You trample our beds of ranunculus,
And you "Tommy-make-room-for-your-un-cle" us.

The worthy and reverend author of the "Ingoldsby Legends" was fond of such rimes as:

A long yellow pinafore
Hangs down each chin afore, or such riming gymnastics as:
At Tappington, now, I could look in the Gosseter.

But I'm out on a visit, and nobody has it here.

Yet in these enormities he was only parodying Byron, who wrote:

Ye lords of ladies intellectual Confess if they had not henpecked you all

Some Satisfaction.

The Hon. Mrs. Robert Hamilton in her biography of her father, the late Lord Wolverhampton, says that in his home his orders were always stern and peremptory, but no one was more surprised than he was when they were obeyed.

One day he detected one of his daughters making a statement in which she rather exaggerated the facts.

"You are one of the most inaccurate women that was ever created," he told her.

"Well," was the cheerful reply, "I am glad to be a masterpiece in some department of creation."

The Tower of Babel.

Do you realize that 4,000 years after the most wonderful of all towers was built by the ancients according to the Book of Genesis about 2400 B. C., its seven stages still rise high above the plains near the site of Babylon? Until a few years ago it had been known as the Mound of the Ebrs Nimrud, when Sir Henry Rawlinson discovered in one of the stages the inscribed cylinders which made the identification possible.

Ministers' Sons.

It is probable that ministers' sons have exerted more influence in the United States than in any other country. Among teachers, lawyers, doctors, scientists, men of business and in the church there are a great host who have been the sons of the manse. Of the more notable men in our history who were sons of ministers we find in political life Cleveland, Clay, Buchanan, Arthur, Quay, Morton, Beveridge, Hughes and the lamented Dolliver of Iowa; among jurists, Field and Brewer; among educators, Woodrow Wilson, Fausch, James, Carroll, Lounsbury; in history and literature, Sloane, Parkman, Bancroft, Emerson, Holmes, Henry James, Lowell, Gilder, Van Dyke; in invention and science, Cyrus W. Field, Samuel F. Morse and Agassiz; in the church, Beecher, Alexander, Hodge, Abbott, Potter, Jonathan Edwards; in philosophy, James. In the Hall of Fame fifty-one famous Americans are honored. Of these ten are the children of ministers—Agassiz, Beecher, Henry Clay, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Jonathan Edwards, Emerson, Lowell, Morse, Bancroft and Holmes. — Popular Science Monthly.

Historic Mace Repaired.

Taken from the capitol for the first time in ten years, the historic eagle capped mace, symbol of the authority of the house of representatives, was recently carried to a jewelry shop in F street for repairs. As the silversmith steadied the emblem upon its staff, riveting a pinion which holds the sextant in place, two of the capitol police, obeying an unwritten law that demands that some one in authority must always be its custodian, stood guard over the mace. After the repairs were completed the mace was returned to the office of the sergeant-at-arms. The mace was made in 1841 by William Adams of New York. It was last repaired about a decade ago, when a wing of one of the eagles became knicked. — Washington Post.

Bryce and His Pipe.

Commenting on the retirement of James Bryce, the British ambassador to the United States, the Dundee Advertiser says that one personal feature of Mr. Bryce which appealed to Americans was his total absence of "side." The Advertiser adds: "A visitor called on him one Sunday morning at the British embassy at Washington, and Mr. Bryce met him in the hall and begged him to 'come this way, where we can talk undisturbed.' He led the way to the library, and the first thing he did was to take out a well worn tobacco pouch and blackened brier pipe, which he proceeded to fill and smoke. The caller realized that this was what the ambassador wished to be 'undisturbed' about."

Synthetic Rubies.

So absolutely perfect in color, hardness, refraction, durability and composition are the most recently manufactured specimens of rubies that European brokers now refuse to take rubies in pawn, as they cannot distinguish the synthetic gem from the product of nature. The German jewelry trade has petitioned the government to take legal steps to protect the public by requiring the synthetic gem to be sold as such. The manufacture of sapphires and other gems is conducted under the same general process by the addition of the necessary coloring matter. Paris is producing large quantities of the gems, and Professor Miethe of Berlin has recently improved the process.

England's Vanishing Lake.

The famous Dunkirk lake at Northwich (Cheshire) has vanished, for the second time within a year. In a few seconds millions of gallons of water entered the bowels of the earth through a great chasm 200 feet deep, formed by a subsidence, and left an empty space where the lake had been. A big land slide in this countryside, honeycombed by subsidences due to brine pumping, occurred about twenty years ago, and in May last the lake formed. Three months later it suddenly emptied itself and then began slowly to refill. Traffic in the vicinity of the phenomenon was at once stopped, and precautions have been taken to prevent further collapses of earth. — London Mirror.

Historic Durazzo.

The Balkan turmoil is stirring our historical and geographical memories. For a thousand years or so no one has thought much of Durazzo. But it was a famous port when the Romans called it Dyrrachium. It was the nearest point across from Brundisium—which is now Brindisi—and was chosen by Cicero as his place of pleasant exile, just as Boulogne is regarded from this side of the channel. In fact, Brundisium and Dyrrachium were the Dover and Calais of the Romans, and now once more Durazzo is springing into importance. — Westminster Gazette.

George and the Dragon.

Frank Harris, the English author and lecturer, says that there are three classes of society in England—the aristocrats, who are barbarians; the middle class, who are philistines; and the dregs of society, who are nothing at all. It is a funny thing that the late King Edward, who had all the vices of the aristocrats, was beloved by the middle class and that his son, King George, who has all the virtues of the middle class, is despised by the aristocrats. He and the queen are always spoken of as George and the Dragon. — New York World.

ROB MATTITUCK BANK OF $12,000

Safe is Blown Open, But Vault is Unharmed.

AN AUTOMOBILE IS USED

Thieves Gained Entrance Into Building by Forcing a Window and Explosion Was Not Heard by Nearby Residents.

Riverhead, L. I., Dec. 21.—The Mattituck State bank, at Mattituck, was broken into, a big safe blown open with dynamite and a large amount of cash stolen. No one heard the explosion.

The sum taken at first was given as $5000, but later stated to have been $12,000, but the bank officials are reticent and refuse to discuss definite figures.

The robbers are supposed to have come and gone in an automobile. The vault in the bank was not tampered with, only the safe outside of the vault being attacked. In the vault was a large amount of money and securities. The bank received from New York $3500 in cash, and this was part of the booty obtained by the thieves.

Notes and mortgages that were in the safe were damaged by the explosion. The safe was a second-hand one, but was supposed to be burglar proof. It is said that no strangers had been seen in or about Mattituck for the past day or two, but it is believed the burglars were well acquainted with the roads in the vicinity and knew the quickest and safest way to make their escape.

The bank building is in the heart of the village, across the street from the Long Island railroad station.

The robbers effected an entrance into the bank by forcing a front window of the building and turned out a light which is left burning all night. Ernest Cox was on his way to work when he noticed that one of the windows of the bank was open and that the light that was usually burning within had been extinguished. He immediately notified the bank officers, and word was telephoned to Sheriff Brush, who at once sent out deputies in pursuit of the thieves.

BLOW POSTOFFICE SAFE

Motor Robbers Frightened Off In Conshohocken Without a Penny.

Conshohocken, Pa., Dec. 21.—Five men, traveling de luxe in a big, high-powered limousine motor car, raided the postoffice here.

They blew off the outer doors of the safe, but the noise of their work frightened them into leaving without having obtained a penny for their trouble. They were last seen going at tremendous speed in the direction of Philadelphia.

Many reports coming into police headquarters, however, indicated that instead of following the Ridge road the would-be robbers had fled across country and were on their way to New York.

Persons in the neighborhood of the postoffice were awakened by three dull explosions. A minute later there was a louder roar from the exhaust of the limousine and it swept north on Fayette street.

The police reached the postoffice a few moments later. They found that the men had entered the building by breaking a pane of glass in the front door. This, however, admitted them only to the main room and they broke the glass in the partition to get into the room where the safe was.

KNOCK-KNEED PLEA FAILS

Youthful Robber's Tale of Physical Infirmities Proves of No Avail.

New York, Dec. 21.—"I am cross eyed. I have knock knees and my feet are deformed. I was laughed out of every job I ever got. I had to live. The world owed me a living. So I stole. That is all there is to it."

This was the unique defense offered by Harry M. Agnis, seventeen year old, of 6 Clinton street, when he was taken before Justice O'Sullivan in the court of general sessions, charged with attacking and dangerously injuring an elevated ticket agent in an attempt to rob him of $4. The court ordered him to the reformatory at Elmira.

Boston, Dec. 21.—The only "12-12-12-12" baby reported in the country is Alfred Russell McCleary. He was born at 12 minutes to 12 on the 12th day of the 12th month of 1912.

ENGLAND HONORS REID

Pays Remarkable Tribute to Dead Ambassador at Funeral.

London, Dec. 21.—Not since the memorial service was held for Premier Bannerman has so great and distinguished a congregation gathered in Westminster Abbey to honor the memory of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid.

Science, art, literature, diplomacy and politics all sent their most notable representatives, while society found time in the stress of Christmas preparations to attend in hundreds.

It was a noteworthy testimony to the place filled in the public and social life of England by America's dead ambassador, and the service was in every way worthy of the occasion. Four beautiful wreaths of hundreds that have been received at Borchester House stood against the altar rails. They were those of King George, Queen Mary, President Taft and Secretary of State Knox.

Prince Arthur of Connaught, as representative of King George and Queen Mary; Lord Howe, representing Queen Mother Alexandra; the representatives of other royal personages, the Duke of Argyll, Prince Louis of Battenberg, the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the vice chancellors of Oxford and Cambridge universities, Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, Home Secretary Reginald McKenna, Colonial Secretary Lewis Harcourt, Lord President of Council Vincent Morley, Indian Secretary the Marquis of Crewe and President of the Board of Trade Sydney Buxton were seated in the front pews of the chancel.

Arrangements have been completed at Portsmouth for the transfer of the body of the late Ambassador Whitelaw Reid from the special train on which it is to be conveyed from London to the cruiser Natal, on board of which it will be taken to the United States.

ROB AND MURDER CHICAGO GEM DEALER

Escape of the Slayer Puzzles the Police.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 21.—J. H. Logue, fifty-five years old, president of J. H. Logue & Co., diamond dealers, was found murdered in his offices in the McVicker building. Robbery was the motive for the crime.

Logue's body was found on the floor of his private office. There was a bullet wound in his forehead, and the back of his head was crushed. From appearances he had been shot and then struck on the head. The office was in disorder and the show cases and drawers had been ransacked.

Logue's hands had been tied with a piece of rope and there was a gag in his mouth. The gag consisted of black ribbon, which had been rolled into a ball. Around his neck was a tightly wound rope, fastened to an end of the ribbon. His feet were not bound. Papers were strewn over the floor and the window shades were drawn.

The police were puzzled as to the means of escape of the murderer. No body could be found who saw anybody leave the office and the police believe that the assailant fled through a window.

A stock of diamonds valued at thousands of dollars was carried by the firm. One of the first steps taken by the police was to ascertain whether any of the gems were missing. Occupants of adjoining offices declared they heard a shot a few minutes before an office boy ran into the hall and gave the alarm.

OPERATES ON THE CZAREVITCH

German Specialist Removes Tubercular Kidney.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—What appears to be the true explanation of the illness of the Russian czarevitch became known when it was learned in medical circles in Berlin that Professor Israel, of Berlin, one of the world's most celebrated specialists on kidney diseases, recently went to St. Petersburg, and by an exceedingly delicate operation removed a tubercular kidney from the eight-year-old heir apparent to the throne of all the Russians.

Professor Israel is said to have received a fee of $25,000 for the operation and also claimed as a boon the rescinding by the czar of the laws prohibiting the settlement of Jews in Odessa and Kieff. Professor Israel is a Jew.

Although the St. Petersburg physicians to the royal family correctly diagnosed the czarevitch's ailment and knew the remedy, the hesitated to perform the operation. Czar Nicholas finally was persuaded to call Professor Israel, and the immigration laws were set aside for the celebrated surgeon by royal edict. He was escorted from and to the frontier by a personal aide to the czar. Professor Israel operated alone and remained in St. Petersburg only one day.

Suspended Bank Satisfies Claims For $110,000.

Pottstown, Pa., Dec. 21.—The Tri-County Banking company acted as Santa Claus when the claims of depositors amounting to $110,000 were paid.

There were many women among the depositors of this concern, which had suspended business owing to failure to realize on investments.

When the bank opened there were many on hand to receive the full amount of their deposits, which had been withheld for months pending a settlement of the bank's affairs. The funds necessary to pay the claims were raised by the voluntary contributions of more than $32,000 from the stockholders.

A $1,000,000 ROOM

Mrs. George W. Widener to Use Panels by the Artist, Says Bucher.

New York, Dec. 21.—The American Art News says that an art firm in this city and London has received a commission to arrange an entire room decorated with panels by the artist Boucher in the Newport home of Mrs. George W. Widener.

The cost of the room is put at $1,000,000, and it will be a feature of a $2,000,000 villa for which ground has been broken.

Mr. Widener, who was a Titanic victim, approved the plans for the house before his death.

Acquitted of $173,000 Theft.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—George Fitzger, a former teller in the United States sub-treasury here, charged with the theft of $173,000 in February, 1907, was found not guilty by a jury. The trial began Nov. 12 and it, with five years of investigation of the mysterious shortage in the Chicago sub-treasury, is said to have cost the government more than $100,000.

NEW WARNING FOR MEXICO

U. S. to Renew Demand For Protection For Americans.

NOTE TO BE UNANSWERABLE

This Action Comes as the Result of Many Complaints of Murder and Robbery.

Washington, Dec. 21.—Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador to Mexico, who has been here in conference with state department officials regarding conditions growing out of the Mexican revolution, left for New York preparatory to sailing for his post, without the expected note of representations which this government is preparing to be sent to the Mexican government demanding protection for American citizens and property.

This action is taken as a further evidence of the intention of the administration to deal with this delicate and difficult situation with circumspection and in a spirit of deliberation.

The communication is now being prepared with the greatest care at the state department and will be transmitted to the American ambassador shortly after his arrival in Mexico City early in January.

The deliberation with which the officials are moving in the preparation of the case of the United States versus Mexico is expected to result in the production of the brief that is expected to be well nigh unanswerable except by a promise of prompt and adequate action on the part of the Mexican government to fairly and fully meet the demands of the United States in the matter of the protection of American interests in Mexico.

Justification for this demand by the United States government is declared to be found in the numerous reports to the state department from every quarter to the general effect that conditions in Mexico have grown worse since the dispatch of Secretary Knox's note of protest last September, and that there has been a marked increase in brigandage and in the kidnapping of Americans for ransom, and in the levying of forced war loans by the rebels upon American mines and plantations.

The senate sub-committee on foreign relations, which has been engaged in investigating conditions along the Mexican border, held a meeting to afford an opportunity to George Fred Williams, of Boston, to lay before it a number of letters bearing upon the situation.

The letters were from a Mr. Traeger, manager of the Los Arcos Smelting and Mining company, and described a condition of continued turbulence and battling with bandits for the last four or five months. Mr. Traeger declared that the important mining centers of Zanalpan and Sultepec and the surrounding country are entirely unguarded. He said that last August a pitched battle was fought with the bandits, in which the mine and its buildings were burned and everything ruined that could not be carried away, and a mining engineer, a Mr. Platt, was taken prisoner.

UNDERWOOD IS ILL

Democratic House Leader Threatened With Pneumonia.

Washington, Dec. 21.—It was learned that Representative Underwood, of Alabama, the Democratic leader of the house, is more seriously ill than the members of his family are willing to acknowledge.

Mr. Underwood is in charge of two prominent physicians. He has a severe cold that for a time threatened to develop into pneumonia. This condition has been aggravated by nervous exhaustion, due to overwork. The attending physicians expect that good nursing will bring Mr. Underwood back to his normal health by the time congress reassembles.

WILSON AND BRYAN WILL CONFER TODAY

Long Expected Meeting Takes Place in Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 21.—William Jennings Bryan will confer with President-elect Wilson today.

Mr. Bryan, after spending several hours in Washington, came to Trenton last night. While in Washington Mr. Bryan declined to talk on Democratic legislative prospects or other Democratic subjects.

From Trenton Mr. Bryan will go to New York for the dinner to Governor-elect Sulzer.

With arms full of papers and documents, Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison, president and secretary respectively of the American Federation of Labor, called on the president-elect.

Messrs. Gompers and Morrison were with the president-elect for nearly an hour. When they came from his office, Mr. Gompers talked freely.

"We discussed," he said, "constructive legislation which shall accord to the working people the opportunity for uplift and betterment and the right of association accorded to all other voluntary associations of the country, particularly to associations organized not for profit. We talked of legislation to secure the limitation and regulation of the issuance of injunctions and to provide trials in indirect contempt cases."

With regard to the visit the president-elect said they had come "to express their anxiety about the fate of Democratic labor measures in the senate, the one creating a department of labor and the two injunction bills."

"I told them I would do whatever I could, with propriety, to promote their passage," he said.

TURKS HOPE TO GAIN BY DELAY

People of Bulgaria Anxious to Renew Fight.

ADMIRALS JOKE IN BATTLE

"Your Aim Is Bad," Turkish Commander Flashes to Greek Leader in Naval Fight.

London, Dec. 21.—The continued procrastination of Turkey is generally conceded by the delegates of the Balkan allies and the best informed observers of the situation to presage a breakdown of the negotiations tending to end the war in the Near East.

The delay is declared to be a big aid to the Porte, which hopes to recover much ground by holding the allies off.

The secrecy of the meetings and the adjournment of the ambassadors conference are interpreted as signifying that the great European powers have performed Turkey's financial autopsy and safeguarded the European beneficiaries of the Ottoman public debt—Christian Europe's bond of fellowship with Turkish oppression.

The allies realize that they have no recourse except to make war on the breach of promise of the "Thirty-five Berlin Treaty" signed by all the powers. Advances from Bulgaria show that the people, especially the soldiers, are chafing under the delay in the peace negotiations and are eager for war regardless of the sacrifice of life involved in a last drive of Balkan civilization against the Christian-Capitalist allies.

In case of the failure of the peace conference the allies might accept America as a mediator, except that Turkey would wilfully construe this as a weakness of the Balkan allies to her advantage.

Autonomy For Albania.

London, Dec. 21.—The six great European powers, England, France, Germany, Russia, Austria and Italy, have accepted the principle of an autonomous Albania with a provision guaranteeing to Serbia commercial access to the Adriatic sea. This is the first definite result of the ambassadors' "conversations."

Joke During Naval Battle.

Constantinople, Dec. 21.—The Turkish flagship Kheyred-Din Barbarossa, which, according to reports from Athens, was practically destroyed by Greek shells during the recent sea fight off the Dardanelles straits, was presented by the sultan of Turkey with the historic flag flown by the battleship Mahmudieh at the bombardment of Sebastopol in 1854.

It appears that the Turkish flagship was struck by two Greek shells, but the damage done to the vessel was insignificant. One man on board was killed and eight others wounded.

During the so-called "battle" the commanders of the Turkish and Greek fleets exchanged pleasantries by wireless telegraphy. The Greek admiral telegraphed: "We have occupied the island of Tenedos and await your orders," to which the Turkish admiral replied: "Your shells are falling wide. I would recommend you to take better aim."

NO CEMETERY FOR CATS

Minister to Preach Over Dead Diamond Wearing Feline.

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 21.—Officials of the Pleasantville Cemetery association have turned down the request of Mrs. Catherine Carter, a rich Memphis, Tenn., widow, for a permit to inter the body of "Tiger," her pet cat, which died Wednesday at the Hotel Troquois, this city. Mrs. Carter offered to pay liberally for the privilege.

"Tiger" is now lying in state. He was embalmed by Undertaker Joseph Champion and laid out in a costly casket. The widow had even hired a minister to preach the funeral service.

"Tiger" became famous a year ago when beach front hotels refused to receive him as a "guest." Although the feline had a broken back and was blind in both eyes, Mrs. Carter lavished money on him. She had a diamond studded collar and several other pieces of jewelry for the animal.

Man Falls on Another's Head.

New York, Dec. 21.—As Charles J. Garrott, a salesman, was passing 54 Broadway, James Smith, a window cleaner, fell from the second story, landing on Garrott's head. Garrott was taken to St. Vincent's hospital with a fractured skull. Smith dashed back up the stairs, unhurt, to continue his work.

Assailant of Women Killed.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Martin Panko, who confessed to having attacked more than twenty women within a year, died at the Bridewell hospital from a bullet wound inflicted by Detective Frank Wulff, who shot the man after Panko had attacked Mrs. Grace Reichert.

Arrest Girl Masquerading as Boy.

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 21.—May Gladys Davidson, aged nineteen years, who escaped a week ago from the Glen Mills school at Sleighton Farm, Darlington, Pa., and has been masquerading in this city as a boy, was captured by the police.

WERE FRIGHTENED

Cylinder Head on Western Maryland Engine Blew Out.

Passengers on the Western Maryland Railroad train from Baltimore that reached Highfield about 8 o'clock, Thursday evening, were for a moment alarmed, as were many others, when they alighted from the train at the mountain station, by the blowing out of a cylinder head on a locomotive on the Gettysburg track. The cylinder head was hurled, with terrific force, against a pile of railroad ties, some distance away, and scattered the heavy pieces of timber in all directions. At the same time the steam escaped in a great, hissing volume and added to the temporary fright of the people. No danger was done except to the cylinder of the locomotive and the tie pile.

The Physiotype.
This is an English invention for making pictures by impression of leaves, ferns, lace, feathers and various other objects. It depends upon the chemical action of a fine powder. The object of which a representation is to be made is placed upon white paper and pressed, either by the hand or by other means. When the object is removed no impression is visible on the paper, but upon sprinkling the powder over the paper the picture at once appears, sharply defined, and remains permanent. Sections of wood and designs of coins and medals can thus be represented, and the prints can be transferred to lithographic stone, zinc or aluminium, thus producing records from which any number of copies can be taken.—Chicago Record-Herald.

It Was Dangerous.

"So you think that kissing is dangerous?"
"Indeed, I do."
"You must have kissed the wrong girl."
"I know I did."
"Her brother handed you a wallop?"
"No; she married me."—Houston Post.

Apple Souffle.

Make about three pints of apple sauce. Strain through a fine sieve and add two tablespoonfuls melted butter, sugar to make pretty sweet, a grating of nutmeg, a tablespoonful of lemon and the well beaten yolks of three eggs. When the mixture is quite cold stir into it the stiffly beaten whites. Have ready a buttered baking dish, turn sauce into it, sprinkle with macaroon crumbs and bake half an hour. Serve hot with whipped cream flavored with vanilla or vanilla crusted sauce.

SEEK MORE USE OF WATER POWER

INTEREST IN PENNSYLVANIA

New York Meeting Told of Water Utilization Association Plans For Erection of Reservoirs Under Control of State Water Supply Commission.

New York, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Water power development formed the principal topic for discussion at the November meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers held here. The discussion was opened by a paper written by John H. Lewis, state engineer of Oregon, who has devoted much time to the subject.

Mr. Lewis emphasized the need of a definite system of water titles to avoid litigation. He explained the law of priority of appropriation and beneficial use as applied in Oregon and other western states and described the workings of the Oregon board of control. The duties of this board are to determine and record old vested rights, to grant rights on proper application and to protect recorded rights. He urged legislation by congress to define rights between states and expressed the belief that the case of Kansas vs. Colorado had decided that the law of riparian rights is not the necessary law in any of the states and that all states can adopt the law of appropriation. He also advocated the development and sale of power to the states in co-operation with the United States.

Morris Knowles, president of the Water Utilization Association of Pennsylvania, took up the discussion. He agreed to the need of a definite system of water titles and of broad revision of water laws, and expressed the hope that it might be possible to bring about such a condition in the state of Pennsylvania during the coming winter. He did not agree that the case of Kansas vs. Colorado had declared that the law of riparian rights is not the law of waters throughout the United States, but held that the language of Kansas vs. Colorado made plain that the supreme court intended to apply the principles of riparian rights to the dispute between the two states. He questioned whether Congress, under the constitution, would have the right to prescribe what shall be the law of waters in the various states. He said he believed that federal co-operation in the control of navigation may secure great collateral benefits, such as flood protection and power development.

"None of these objections," said Mr.
Knowles, "apply to state administration of interstate water rights and it may be possible to develop an administrative riparian system under the supervision of a state commission, which should be as definite and as conducive to development as in Oregon, without overturning the established system of law in the eastern states."

"I believe that satisfactory control is necessary in order to gain the desired end. To avoid burdening our state governments with additional commercial enterprises it would be undesirable to insist upon the development of water resources by the states acting alone. This opinion and the belief that under a rational, well defined system of water laws and with wise state regulation, in the interest of the people to encourage capital to construct the works necessary to the conservation of water, has been responsible for the formation of the Water Utilization Association of Pennsylvania."

A Hot One.

A woman entered a railway train and happened to take a seat in front of a newly married couple. She was hardly seated before they began making remarks about her, which some of the passengers must have heard. Her last year's bonnet and cloak were fully criticized with more or less giggling on the bride's part, and there is no telling what might have come next if the woman had not put a sudden stop to the conversation by a bit of clever, feminine strategy. She turned her head, noticed that the bride was considerably older than the bridegroom, and, in the smoothest of tones, said:
"Madame, will you please have your son remove his feet from the back of my chair?"

Cocaine Habit.

Statistics are hard to find relating to the extent of the cocaine trade in this country, but many serious persons have become thoroughly alarmed at the rapidly increasing use of the drug.
In some respects the cocaine habit is more terrible than any other scourge that menaces society and the habit is growing faster than is realized by most people. From time to time it is reported that organized efforts are being made to stop the cocaine traffic, but as yet the evil has not been materially affected by opposition. The great trouble seems to be that the public fails to understand what the cocaine habit is doing for its victims and that is now filling more prison cells than whisky. That is the statement of a noted physician of New York.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

The Woman Makes the Home

She makes it best who, looking after the culinary department, turns her back resolutely upon unhealthful, or even suspicious, food accessories. She is economical; she knows that true economy does not consist in the use of inferior meat, flour, or baking powder. She is an earnest advocate of home made, home baked food, and has proved the truth of the statements of the experts that the best cooking in the world today is done with Royal Baking Powder

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

A two-year-old White Rock hen in the Missouri egg contest laid eighty-two eggs in eighty-two consecutive days and up to date of report with her 179 eggs was ahead of the whole bunch which contained many pullets. It has been demonstrated that hens vary in the time of their top notch performance, some doing the trick in their pullet year and others waiting to that period when Dr. Oster would give it to everybody in the neck.

One thing the egg laying contests demonstrate—viz, that members of the same breed differ in laying capacity. At one place a breed leads, and at another competition the same breed is the tailender. Thus it does not depend on the breed name, but the strain of that breed, for a good record.

Professor Lippincott of the Kansas experiment station has been conducting egg candling schools throughout the state for the instruction of all persons dealing in eggs. By the old plan the wholesaler only candled eggs and the customer eventually paid for the rots. All the states should give this instruction.

Some hotels refuse to buy ducks unless guaranteed not to have been fed on fish. How different from the day when the piddle duck was in vogue! It lived on mullets, tadpoles, frogs and water skippers and was considered an epicurean perfect.

There is a marked difference in the appearance and flavor of eggs preserved with lime and water glass. The water glass eggs are almost like new, and then it is so much easier and more pleasant for the consumer than the old, discolored, stale lime method.

tained fine eggs, but a wish for old hens means overfat, fat eggs and disease.

Five thousand dollars was voted at the American Poultry association meeting at Nashville for the publication of a "Utility Standard." If this book, prepared by practical poultrymen and sold at a reasonable price it will have an immense sale.

The Jewish holiday trade makes big cut into the duck population. Some farmers will hold on to ducks with the false idea that there is no in them at Thanksgiving. They must spend two months' more labor and feed, often must sell for less and do not get the duck yards into rye and renew them for the next season.

Henry Richardson, a negro of Rome, Ga., confessed to stealing 1,000 chickens in three months and making over $100 per month through their sale. Fifty chickens was often a night's haul.

Alfalfa growing is making the Argentine one of the leading meat producing countries, while the decision to grow the soy bean in place of flax, which is an exhausting crop, will render the farmers of the country still more prosperous.

Notwithstanding the fact that eastern orchardists have been getting but 50 cents a bushel for their apples, these same apples are costing the consumer in central western states from $3.75 to $4.25 per barrel by the time they are unloaded at his cellar door.

AT SEA IN AN OPEN BOAT.

An Anxious Experience Off the Rock Bound Coast of Korea.

The perils of the small boat at sea are told by Jack London in an article on "Small Boat Sailing" in the Yachting Monthly.

"About the liveliest eight days of my life were spent in a small boat on the west coast of Korea," he writes. "I was in an open boat, a sampan, on a rocky coast where there were no light-houses and where the tides ran from thirty to sixty feet. My crew were Japanese fishermen. We did not speak each other's language. Yet there was nothing monotonous about that trip. Never shall I forget one particular cold, bitter dawn, when in the thick of driving snow we took in sail and dropped our small anchor.

"The Japanese crawled under a communal rice mat and went to sleep. I joined them, and for several hours we dozed fitfully. Then a sea deluged us with icy water and we found several inches of snow on top of the mat.

"It soon became a case of swamping at our anchor. Seas were splashing on board in growing volume, and we bailed constantly. And still my fisherman crew eyed the surf battered shore and did nothing.

"At last, after many narrow escapes from complete swamping, the fishermen got into action. All hands tailed on to the anchor and hove it up. Forward, as the boat's head paid off, we set a patch of sail about the size of a flour sack. And we headed straight for the rocky shore. I unlaced my shoes, unbuttoned my greatcoat and coat and was ready to make a quick partial strip a minute or so before we struck. But we didn't strike, and as we rushed in I saw the beauty of the situation. Before us opened a narrow channel, frilled at its mouth with breaking seas. Yet long before, when I had scanned the shore closely, there had been no such channel. I had forgotten the thirty foot tide. And it was for this time that the Japanese had so precariously waited."

A quart of rich milk and two quarts of water drunk daily in connection with sufficient exercise will do more to bring health and strength to a run-down woman than all the tonics and dopes in four states, and it is a fearful pity that more dumpy women don't realize the fact.

The whole grape—pulp, seeds and skin, chewed fine and swallowed—is said by a reputable medical authority to be an excellent means of curing constipation. More than this, the seeds and skins, which are usually discarded, contain the greater portion of the nutritive elements of the grape.

COLDS GO OVER NIGHT

If your head is stuffed up and you have a hard cold you can quickly get rid of the misery.

First look after the bowels; any good cathartic will do; then breathe Booth's HYOMEI which promptly kills germ life and heals the membrane.

Breathe HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) in the daytime through the little hard rubber inhaler, and just before going to bed at night do this. Pour a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI into a kitchen bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe for several minutes the soothing, healing vapor that arises. This treatment is also fine for sore throat and catarrh. Complete HYOMEI outfit including inhaler, $1.00; extra bottles if needed, 50c. The People's drug store is authorized to refund your money if dissatisfied.
